

Butterflies, Birds and Blossoms

Water thrifty Mojave Desert plants can produce a riot of colors and scents. Butterflies, birds and bees are drawn to these sources of pollen and nectar, especially in spring and fall. Many of these desert plants will also thrive in urban home gardens.

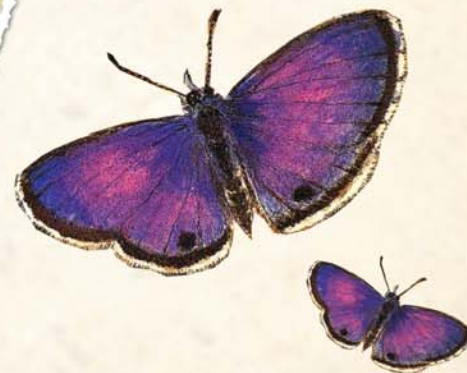

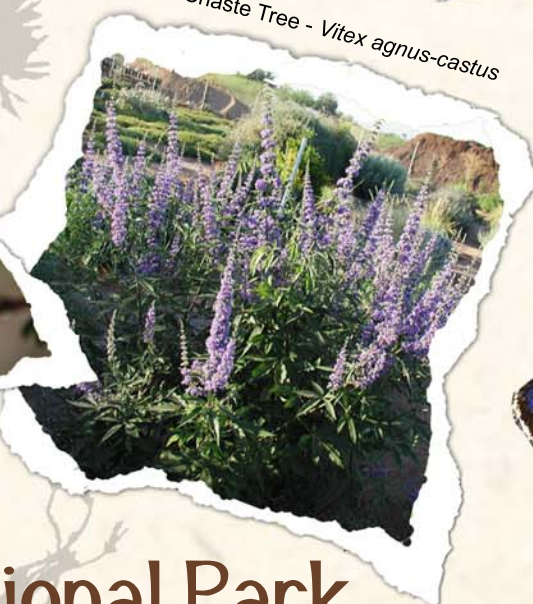

Globe Mallow
SPHAERALCEA AMBIGUA

Yellow Warbler
DENDROICA PETECHIA 5"

Chaste Tree - Vitex agnus-castus

Black Dalea - Dalea frutescens

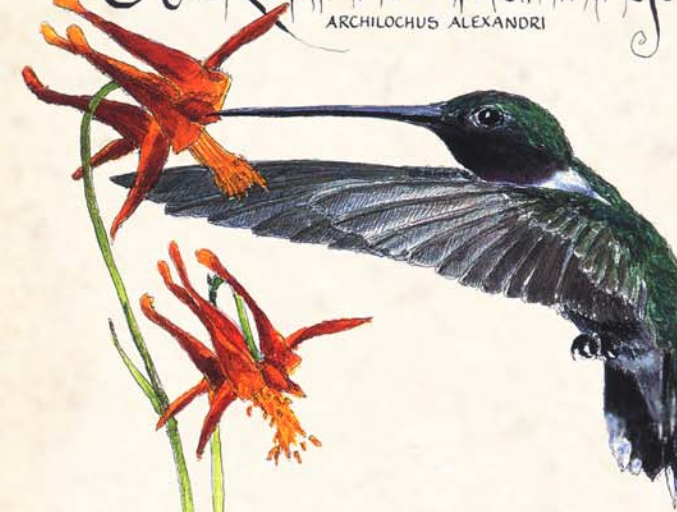

Sunset Regional Park
Native Discovery

Ocotillo - Fouquieria splendens

Red Bird of Paradise - Caesalpinia pulcherrima

Black-chinned Hummingbird
ARCHILOCHUS ALEXANDRI

Convergens
Ladybug Beetle
HIPPODAMIA CONVERGENS

CHILOPSIS LINEARIS
Desert Willow

Vanessa Cardui
2" 2 1/4"
Painted Lady

